PIEMONTE

Gavi

ROBERTO SAROTTO PALLADINO

Soils and styles

Gavi is known for freshness and vibrancy. With time in bottle, it can gain depth and notes of honey and dried fruit.

Northern belt

Iron-rich red clays and alluvial deposits characterize the warmer northern belt. Wines here often show more body, breadth and structure.

Central strip

Alternating marl and sandstone, with clays, sands and pebbles, support a balance of flavor, texture and freshness.

Southern belt

Higher vineyards near the Apennines have pale marine marls. Wines tend to be more delicate, with lift and a distinct mineral impression.
